Oppities .- Sometimes we meet with characters which the world cannot understand; minds which are not influenced by the narrow rules of the policy of life; natures that live, as it were, in a world of their own; whose virtues, ay, and whose vices too, are different, and spring from other causes than such as the world would refer them to; who act up to no law either of prudence or of virtue, yet rarely violate either; who exist as it were as speculators in life, ruling and scorning the hearts which worship them; feeling happiness where others would grieve, and sorrowings where others would rejoice; beings as inscrutable to themselves as to others.

AN ALARMING THREAT. - A clergyman being prohibited from preaching, because he was a nonconformist, said to his judges: " The treatment which I have received from you, will probably cost the lives of more than a thousand persons." He was instantly arrested on account of this alarming threat, and an explanation demanded

"Nothing is more plain," said he, "in depriving me of a parish, you leave me no other resource than to become a

"Why surely," rejoined the master, "you won't like to kill the poor sheep and lambs ! " "No" said the urchin, "I shouldn't like to kill poor uns, but I should like to kill fat uns ?"

TO THE PEOPLE. The session of Congress which is about to terminate, will be long and gratefully remembered by all true republicans for the

triumphent success of many of their cherished principles and measures. While we heartily rejoice at the triumph of the principles which it has been our constant effort to advocate and defend, and from which no prosperity, no adversity, can swerve us, we cannot be unmindful of the attitude in which we are placed by a recent vote of both houses of Congress:-we allude to the contemplated withdrawal of their patronage from the newspaper press. To this decision we cheerfully how, sensible as we are of the patriotic motives which have led to it. But we trust that this Establishment, where they will find (with scarcely an exception) decision of Congress increases rather than diminishes our claim | every new and deshable style, both FOREIGN and DOMESTIC, to the support of a higher power-that of the people; and to them | which the American market affords-all of which are offered for sale by we confidently appeal to aid us, by their patronge, in sustaining the piece or package for Cash or short Credit, at or below manufacturers' at the seat of government a journal that is inflexibly devoted to prices. their interests and the true interests of the country. It is known to every one, that the chief source of sustaining a newspaper is not the magnitude of its subscription list, so much as the advertising patronage which may be bestowed upon it. In large commercial cities, indeed, the latter is usually the concomitant of the former, as it becomes the obvious interest of mercantile men to advertise in those papers which are the most exten | country. Paper of all kinds made to order at short notice. Deprived of the advertising patronage incident to a mercantile which is of very superior quality community, and burdened with peculiar and enormous expenses which are not elsewhere incurred, nothing but a very long list of every description, imported and kept constantly on band, viz. of subscribing patrons can sustain a paper in usefulness-if in Feltings, Wire Cloth, Fourdrinier Wires, Bleaching Powder, Blue Ul deed, even in existence. The proprietors of the "Union" have tramarine, Twine, &c. hitherto spared no pains, and no expense, to make their paper worthy of the metropolis, and worthy of the support of that great | for which the highest price in cash will be paid party under whose banner they are enlisted. In publishing the most full and ample debates of the two houses of Congress, it is believed, ever before attempted on this continent in a daily news paper, they have secured the services of the best reporters which the country afforded, but at the enormous cost of $19,000 to $15,000 per year. Their extensive foreign and domestic correspondence is another large item of expense, but the instructive usefulness of which is so highly commended and appreciated as to justily almost any outlay to attain it. Still, it must be evident that these beavy expenses cannot be borne, unless the subscription list is commensurate with the undertaking; and although we can boast of 15,000 subscribers, (including daily, tri weekly, and weekly), yet this list must be still considerably enlarged to enable the proprietors of the "Union" to sustain all its usefulness, and to insure them against pecuniary loss. Invoking, then, again, the aid and support of all true friends of republican government, and pledging ourselves to renewed efforts in the cause of the glorious principles we cherish, we offer the following proposals: The "DAILY UNION" will be published, as heretofore, at $10 per annum, payable in advance.
